National Park For Kilauea

Next Congress Will Be Asked To Enact Law To Secure Bishop Estate Lands

A determined effort is to be made in the next Congress to secure the enactment of a law that will turn the volcano of Kilauea and a large area of land surrounding into a national park to be administered as are the national parks on the mainland.

In addition to the public Territorial domain involved a large amount of land owned by the Bishop estate will come into the negotiations that are to be instituted so that a definite plan can be ready when the next Congress convenes.

The making of Kilauea a national park would be accompanied by a number of far reaching benefits that will make the wonders of the volcano and the surrounding country more easily accessible to the touring public.

The law governing the establishment of national parks is receiving a careful perusal by Governor Frear and the preliminary details in relation to a plan for the acquisition of the Bishop Estate lands will be largely in his hands.

The making of a national park out of Kilauea has been talked of for a long time and the decision to institute an effort for a Federal law before the next Congress is the result of an opinion upon the part of Governor Frear and others interested that it will be the best thing to do with the Territory's greatest tourist asset.

A conference will soon be held between the representatives of the Bishop Estate and the Territory in connection with the status of the estate's lands within the area of the proposed park.

SIGNIFICANT LIGHT SHED ON KAHULUI RAILROAD'S LONE BID FOR BREAKWATER

Interesting developments in the Kahului breakwater case, bearing directly on the Lord-Young Engineering Company and the Morgan Dredging Company that they were shut out of the bidding by the Kahului Railroad Company, were discovered today. The first is that the Hawaiian Dredging Company, figuring that the Kahului railroad has things absolutely its own way so far as the breakwater contract is concerned, did not attempt to bid, and the second is that the Kahului road made a peculiarly late quotation to the Lord-Young company in answer to a request for a rate on hauling rock to the breakwater.

Walter F. Dillingham of the Hawaiian Dredging Company declared this morning that his firm did not feel disposed to bid on the Kahului work under the circumstances surrounding the contract.

"The Kahului road has everything in its own hands up there," he stated. "We know it was no use to try to compete for this contract, as the company has both the road and the quarry from which the rock must be taken. Under these circumstances, it was useless for us to enter the field. In the first place, we couldn't get the rock nor the transportation, and, in the second place, if we should bid, the Kahului road could certainly underbid us. The breakwater benefits nobody but the Kahului road and Baldwin interests, and they could afford to build the breakwater very much cheaper than anybody else, simply because of the immense benefit it will be to them."

Late Letter Is Sent.

The second interesting development came when a letter reached the Lord-Young Engineering Company yesterday signed by J. N. S. Williams, representing the Kahului road, which quoted a rate of eight cents per mile per ton for carrying rock. The letter, according to the statements of both Mr. Lord and Mr. Young, did not reach them until 1:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, two hours after the bids were opened in the U. S. Engineer's office. Their statement is borne out by a notation on the letter which gives the time of opening at 1:45 o'clock. The letter did not go through the mail. It was shoved under the door, they state, some time yesterday and they learned of its contents long after the bids were opened. They say also that as only a rate of eight cents was quoted, and no figures were appended giving the number of miles the company would haul the stone, the letter would have been of no use to them, anyway.

Baldwin Refused to Quote Rate.

As stated in the Bulletin yesterday, H. P. Baldwin, president and manager of the Kahului road, wrote

STRAIGHT TICKET TALKS

BY GEORGE W. SMITH.

"There come times when it is the duty of a citizen to bolt his party when the party has nominated a man not fit for the office."

"There come times when it is treason to a party, to the country and to his fellow citizens for a man, no matter what his personal feelings, to desert his party or the party's nominee."

"The present election is one of the latter. A vote against Kuhio is treason to the party, to the community, to the welfare of the country."

"In business we base our judgment of an employee on the question, 'Has the man made good?'"

"There is but one answer to this question in the case of Kuhio: He has—in every sense of the word. His record in securing beneficial legislation is beyond question."

Next Monday afternoon the world's championship baseball series will open at Philadelphia. Interest in the series between the Chicago Cubs of the National League and the Philadelphia Athletics of the American League is worldwide. The Bulletin has made special arrangements to report these games by cable. Watch for it beginning Monday.

POSTPONE ACTION IN CLARK'S CASE

Judge Cooper Grants Request
Of Continuance By Attorney.

WANTS TIME TO ANSWER
CONTEMPT CHARGES

Accused Clerk Still Declares
That He Will Not Reply to Question Put to Him By the Grand Jury.

The contempt charge against Henry Clark, charged with police fund peculation, was continued until next Wednesday by Judge Cooper this morning. Clark's attorney Frank Thompson asking the court for that time in which to make answer on the return to the petition for citation for contempt, directed against Clark upon his refusal to answer questions propounded to him in the Grand Jury room.

There was no objection to the request for a postponement by City and County Attorney Cathcart who declared that he believed it reasonable and would offer no objection.

Clark was in court during the proceedings and did not appear to be greatly worried over the situation in which he now finds himself. He informed a friend that he would adhere to his original determination not to answer the questions and stated that they could keep him in jail if they wanted to.

On Wednesday Judge Cooper will decide whether Clark will have to answer the question bearing up the Andrade checks.

ANDRADE HAS NOT RESIGNED

District Magistrate Said This Morning That He Had Not Quit.

In answer to a question put to him this morning, Judge Andrade emphatically denied that he had, as rumor had it, resigned his position. "No," remarked the judge to a Bulletin reporter, "I have not resigned my position of district magistrate." On being pressed as to whether he intended to vacate his seat on the bench, the judge declined to discuss the matter.

There are rumors going the rounds as to who will succeed Judge Andrade if he leaves the police court bench. A. L. C. Atkinson, Carlos Long and A. M. Brown have been mentioned as possibilities, but nothing definite has been done up to noon today.

Ben Zablan was at the police court office this morning, but he did not work on the deposition book in the courtroom. Eli Crawford is doing all the work, and he has his hands full. Deputy Auditor James Lloyd has finished his audit of the books kept by Chief Clerk Asch, and everything was found to be satisfactory.

Aviator Leaves Atlantic City and Speeds Boldly Across Sea

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 15.—Walter Wellman, aviator and journalist, is off on his much-heralded flight by airship across the Atlantic Ocean. This morning the great dirigible airship America moved out from the house where it has been kept under cover, spread its wings and sailed away into the sky, striking boldly out across the waves.

With Wellman are his mechanic and expert, Vaniman, and four other daring souls who are risking their lives in the effort to accomplish this record-breaking feat.

The America started out slowly, but soon attained a speed of twenty knots an hour. A wireless was received this afternoon stating that all was well aboard and the airship still continued to move along at twenty knots.

NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM BEING EXTENDED AT RATE OF TWENTY PHONES DAILY

Progress on installing new phones in the automatic system is progressing rapidly and the phones are being given to new subscribers at the rate of twenty per day, and perhaps they can be installed faster if competent men can be secured to do the work.

Superintendent Hummel of the company stated today that the first 2,000 switches were taken up last week and that on Monday of this week another case containing 500 more switches was installed ready for connections and these 500 phones would be put in as fast as the men could do the work.

"There were 700 new phones to put in," said Mr. Hummel, in talking of the work, "after the change had been made from the old system. By that I mean that there were and have accumulated since the installation of the new system 700 applications for phones in addition to the regular subscribers to the old system. We are somewhat handicapped by a lack of competent men to do some of the work and if we had more men we could put in the phones faster. However, we are now and have been for some little time installing phones at the rate of twenty per day and expect to have all the applicants supplied within a few weeks."

The new system has proven a marked success except in isolated instances, and there by changing the phones things have generally regulated themselves speedily.

Some of the applicants for telephones had applications in for more than a year under the old system, and

NEW ORDINANCE WILL HIT HUNDREDS OF SMALL SHOPS AND COMPEL GOOD CLEAN-UP

An ordinance that will affect literally hundreds of meat, fruit and vegetable shops throughout Honolulu, large and small, is now being drafted by City Physician Bruce McV. Mackall in conjunction with Supervisor Daniel Logan and Chemist E. B. Blanchard. It is the result of the health campaign that the board of supervisors and the city physician are waging, and the outcome of protests against the lack of protection from dirt and flies given food-stuffs in the city.

Dr. Mackall is now drafting the sections covering fruits displayed for sale, and has practically finished the preliminary work, after which he will take up meats and vegetables. It is evident that the ordinance will be sweeping in character, and yet so specific in its various clauses that prosecution will be easy for violations of definite regulations.

The fruits section covers everything from a grape to a coconut, apparently, and the other sections will be just as sweeping. Every provision shop in the city that does not now
